Delivering a better physical understanding of mixed phase and ice crystal accretion phenomena, a set of improved validated models for all underlying physical processes, as well as 3D multiphysics mature simulation tools able to simulate Ice Crystal Icing in real conditions. This will support pre-design, design and certification of engines and aircraft.